U.S. Studies Red Note Agreeing To Test Ban Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles today were studying a new Russian note agreeing to talk about ways of policing any ban on nuclear tests.

In an initial reaction the White House welcomed that part of a note from Russian Premier Khrushchev but expressed hope any talks could be broadened to include a study of a wider range of disarmament problems.

The note was delivered to the State Department Saturday. Moscow radio broadcast a summary of it Sunday.

Moscow radio quoted the note as saying Russia would agree to the limited talks "in spite of its serious doubts." At the same time, Khrushchev called again for the United States and Russia to halt their own nuclear tests and rejected Eisenhower's proposal for an Arctic inspection zone.

EISENHOWER and Dulles were expected to confer after Dulles' return to Washington. He spoke in Minneapolis Sunday after a week-long round of diplomatic conferences in Europe.

In that speech, Dulles reasserted U. S. interest in a polar inspection system "so that none need fear that these new polar routes will be traveled by bombers or by missiles unleashing surprise attack."

But Khrushchev said the polar proposal "is designed to gain advantages for the U. S. A." and does not spring from any desire for peace.

Khrushchev, while voicing doubts, said Russia would agree to technical talks on how to police a test suspension agreement.

Moscow radio said, "the President regards such talks as very important." But he added that "work should be completed in the shortest term agreed upon before-hand."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, followed that up with a statement saying Khrushchev's note "seems to constitute recognition of the validity" of a position long held by the United States and many others "that examination of the technical aspects of disarmament measures should begin as soon as possible and might serve as the basis for progress toward disarmament."

Two Injured In Weekend Auto Mishaps

Two persons were injured in traffic mishaps in the Circleville area during the weekend.

Dexter V. Crosby, 27, Route 1, Laureville, is reported in satisfactory condition in University Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Cora Cardwell, 71, Gallipolis, was treated for a right shoulder injury and scratched nose by highway patrolmen yesterday.

Crosby was injured at about 4:45 p.m. Saturday in Hocking County on Route 180 at South Perry. According to Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies, he was astride his motorcycle when it rammed an auto making a U-turn in the road.

He was reported to have suffered two broken arms, a broken leg, internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. The auto was driven by William Tucker, Route 1, Laureville. Crosby was taken to Berger Hospital, then transferred to University Hospital.

MRS. CARDWELL was hurt in a crash 1.3 miles north of South Bloomfield on Route 23. State Highway patrolmen reported she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Thomas B. Cardwell 70, Gallipolis.

The Cardwell car was headed north, the patrol reported, and made a left turn from the right hand lane at the roadside park. The car was struck in the left rear by an auto driven by Derra L. Keyes, 46, Ironton, which was passing on the left hand lane.

Cardwell was arrested for making an improper turn. Both cars were heavily damaged according to Patrolman Gene Miller. The accident happened at 4:45 p.m. yesterday.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Tornado funnels danced across the Texas South Plains today and Lubbock was alerted to possible danger.

A tornado funnel was sighted in the air 18 miles southwest of this city of 140,000. Sirens wailed a warning at 12:40 a. m. But highway patrolmen said the twister remained aloft. No reports of damage were received.

Ohio River Falling Steadily after Flood

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio River steadily fell back into its banks today after a spring flood.

The river dropped about seven-tenths of a foot Sunday from a 58-foot crest and is expected to fall back to 52 feet Wednesday.

The Ohio is falling more rapidly upriver and Sunday night had reached a rate of one-tenth foot an hour at Maysville, Ky.

Ike's Foreign Aid Bill Faces House Decision

Backers Hope To Curb Further Cuts in Total Of Money Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid came up for House consideration today with backers hoping to stave off money cuts despite a recession at home and anti-American out-breaks overseas.

As it came to floor from the Foreign Affairs Committee, the measure authorized a $3.6 billion program for the year starting July 1 — $339 million below President Eisenhower's request.

House passage of the authorization bill was expected about Wednesday. This would send the bill to the Senate.

Secretary of State Dulles plugged anew for the program in a Minneapolis speech Sunday night. He said the Soviets are dangling tempting aid offers before underdeveloped countries with the intention of subverting them.

Thus U. S. help abroad is vital to combat "a hostile despotism which seeks to strangle us," Dulles said.

REP. THOMAS Morgan (D-Pa.), acting chairman of the House committee, and Rep. John M. Vorys (Ohio), a Republican leader, have said the $339 million committee cut below what Dulles termed Eisenhower's "rock bottom" figure put the bill in relatively good shape to survive expected House attacks.

But during the last few days there have been rocks hurled at Vice President Nixon, in Peru, bullets fired at the American ambassador's residence in Haiti and the torch applied to U. S. Information Service libraries in Lebanon.

Also causing concern to aid supporters is a secret General Accounting Office report alleging heavy waste in U. S. dollars for the small Southeast Asia country of Laos, where recent elections came out less than satisfactorily from the American point of view.

On the plus side for the aid bill would be the widening Yugoslav-Soviet rift. Sens. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) agreed Sunday that this is likely to dampen prospective moves to halt further aid to Tito.

3 of 4 Aircraft Plants OK Pacts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three of Southern California's Big Four aircraft manufacturers have reached wage agreements with unions, dispelling the threat of an area-wide industry strike.

One agreement is tentative. North American Aviation, Inc., employees will vote next Sunday on the contract approved by company and United Auto Workers negotiators Sunday.

It provides a 17- to 26-cent hourly wage increase for 15,500 employees here and 5,500 in Columbus, Ohio. Their scale now ranges from $1.65 to $2.76.

Convair and Lockheed have accepted while negotiations continue with Douglas.

Skelton Family Finds Solace As Leukemia Claims Son, 9

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton and his wife, Georgia, today found some solace in the belief that the international publicity on their son's valiant but losing fight with leukemia may help future victims of the cancer-like disease of the blood.

"I want the thousands of people who have written us that they prayed for Richard during his illness to have faith that God will answer their prayers," said Skelton.

"I believe that good comes out of everything, even tragedy such as ours. Maybe the world will know now that this disease must be licked. I think it is the beginning of all cancer."

The 9-year-old boy died Saturday night after a 16-month fight with the disease. Only blood transfusions had kept the child alive in recent weeks.

A final brain hemorrhage sent the boy into a coma that lasted an hour. He awoke briefly and whispered:

"I can't see. Everything is fuzzy."

A DOCTOR turned off the light in the UCLA Medical Center room five minutes later and told the parents that the boy had died.

It was a moment the Skeltons had dreaded for more than a year. When it came, they were too stunned to move. Mrs. Skelton said she and Red sat quietly weeping beside the boy's frail body for a half-hour.

Navy Flier Says Man Can Live in Space

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—"I feel good; man can survive in space."

With these sentiments, the Navy's Lt. Cmdr. Jack Nieman Jr. Sunday ended a pioneer venture into simulated outer space.

The time was 10:10 a. m., 44 hours to the minute after Nieman had been sealed in a pressure chamber at the Norfolk Naval Air Station for exposure to conditions of altitudes up to 105,000 feet.

Clad in a new, lightweight space suit, Nieman set a record for endurance under circumstances that could have meant almost instant death had anything gone wrong.

The Navy said his stay in the enormously complex pressure chamber provided enough information "to forecast the effects of space flight on man for days, weeks, or a month."

The visible effects on Nieman were negligible. The inflated suit rubbed blisters on his wrists and irritated his neck. His boots were too tight and had to be changed.

Nieman left the pressure chamber four hours short of the Navy's original 48-hour goal, but Cmdr. A. L. Hall, medical officer in charge of the experiment, said there was no need to continue.

4 Persons Die In Home Fire In Painesville

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Two men and the two small children of one of them died today when quickly spreading flames trapped them on the second floor of a farm house five miles southwest of here.

The dead were Other Ray Laws, 33; his son, Bobby, 5, and his year-old daughter, Diana; and Carl McCartney Jr., 23.

Six other persons got out of the house safely and five of them were treated for slight burns and shock at Memorial Hospital. They were: Carl McCartney, 47, a widower whose son died in the blaze; the elder McCartney's children, Shirley, 16, and Harry, 11; Mrs. Alice Laws, 38, mother of the two dead children; Mrs. Fern Gravely, 36, sister of Mrs. Laws; and Jack Johnson, a resident of nearby Mentor who had been visiting at the home of the two families.

Fire Chief John Harter said the house was "a raging inferno" when firemen got there shortly after 3 a. m. He said the fire started on the second floor, but the cause probably never would be known because the building was consumed.

"We tried to get up there, but we couldn't get through the smoke and fire," said Mrs. Gravely. "We pounded on the walls of the stairway to wake them, but we could hear nothing, or see nothing. Finally we were forced to run out."

Mrs. Gravely said she and the elder McCartney were drinking coffee in the kitchen when Harry McCartney came in and said he smelled smoke. They said when they looked upstairs they saw sheets of flame.

MOUNT VERNON (AP)—A preliminary autopsy report indicates a Kenyon College instructor and one of his students were killed by carbon monoxide fumes, Dr. James McLarnan, coroner, reports.

While awaiting a complete report before issuing a formal verdict in the deaths of Edgar Bogardus, 30, of Mount Vernon, and Daniel G. Ray, 22, of Cincinnati, Dr. McLarnan said the two men were found dead Sunday in the Bogardus home here. Police discovered the gas furnace flue was clogged.

'Buy Now' Drives Spurring Sales Throughout Nation

NEW YORK — This could be the year of the salesman — if he works hard enough at beating the consumer bushes with a crowbar.

At least, the hard sell is on to persuade recession-hesitant men and women to unloose the purse strings.

This way, say the men off Madison Ave. sidewalks and Detroit's assembly line, "we've got it licked."

Buy what? Well, one of the first and loudest slogans heard throughout the land was, "You Auto Buy Now." Shop owners are tying in with the idea. The result in cities and towns all over the country is a week, two weeks or month retail effort to sell appliances, TV, clothes or food along with cars.

And buy with what? Personal savings in the U.S.A. are at an all-time high, somewhere between 300 and 340 billion dollars, despite current unemployment.

NOT THAT manufacturers, or for that matter, President Eisenhower, urge a wild spending spree. But the whole effort, with banners, car stickers, speeches and parades has a carnival air.

It started in Cleveland, where auto dealers hustled 15 million dollars worth of new and used cars in a week. Cleveland's auto buy idea ricocheted from New York's Madison Square Garden rafters to 21 key market cities after 2,000 dealers whooped themselves into a selling frenzy. A chorus of circus elephants and tigers punctuated their enthusiasm.

In Saginaw, Mich., women got into the picture to whip up sales spirit in their city with a rousing march across the Saginaw Bridge, whistling Colonel Bogie's march from "Bridge on the River Kawai" to alert merchants of their arrival.

In April Saginaw staged a sales rally parade and ballyhooed a 101 per cent retail increase in a week.

"Yes, it promises to be a rousing spring," the ANPA Bureau of Advertising in New York reveals happily.

"Right now the idea of selling our way to a healthy economy is

Polio Vaccine Makers Cited

5 Firms Indicted In Antitrust Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Rogers today announced the indictment of five big drug companies for antitrust violations in the sale of polio vaccine to federal and local governments.

The firms were named as: Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.; American Home Products Corp., New York City; Merck & Co., Rahway, N. J.; and Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

The companies were described as the sole producers of polio vaccine in this country from the time the success of the Salk formula was announced in April 1955.

The indictment said the total production of polio vaccine through the end of 1957 was slightly more than 205 million cubic centimeters having a value of $125 million.

Of this total, about 104 million cc. were sold to public authorities. The bulk of these purchases were under the Poliomyelitis Vaccination Assistance Act of 1955.

THIS ACT provided for allocation of $53 million of federal funds to the states for vaccination programs.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the antitrust division, said:

"The indictment returned today charges that vaccine producers have combined to submit uniform bids to public agencies, to adopt noncompetitive terms and conditions of sale, and to establish uniform pricing methods. Price-fixing activities involving such a significant industry and such substantial sales require criminal action by the department."

Second Bank Job Suspect Apprehended

BULLETIN

A Minnesota man wanted for an Ohio bank robbery was arrested and jailed here Sunday.

J. E. Milnes, Minneapolis FBI agent-in-charge, said Jimmy Vernon Burnette, 30, Schroeder, Minn., was picked up after an investigation and taken to the Ramsey County jail.

Milnes said a complaint was filed before a U. S. Commissioner in Columbus, Ohio, charging Burnette with the $3,892.99 hold-up of the Scioto Bank at Commercial Point, Ohio, on May 6.

The FBI agent said a Charles Robert O'Malley is in custody in Ohio.

Milnes said the bank was robbed by two men carrying shotguns.

22 Persons Heed 'Buy Now' Plea

At least 22 persons spent $31,167 for automobiles locally Friday and Saturday, giving an initial burst to the Circleville New Car Dealers Assn. "You Auto Buy Now" campaign.

It was reported today that the drive to spur Circleville's economy is beginning to take effect here.

Nine local auto dealers launched the campaign Friday with a downtown parade. Sales meetings have been held and most dealers are offering "specials" to attract sales.

Silver dollars have been appearing all over Circleville the last two days. Automobile agencies paid their employees in silver dollars last week to illustrate the importance of automobile dollars in the local business scene.

Members of the New Car Dealers Assn., promoting the "buy now" drive, are: Hadden Chevrolet, Pickaway Motors, Wes Edstrom, Flanagan Motors, Yates Buick, Clifton Motor Sales, Ed Helwagen, Joe Moats and Circleville Motors.

Ohioan Named To Reign As Mrs. America

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Giesse, a slender, 34-year-old housewife from Cleveland, Ohio, today started a series of personal appearances as "Mrs. America 1958."

Mrs. Giesse, brown-haired, hazel-eyed mother of three, was chosen Saturday night in competition with women from the 48 states and District of Columbia.

Judging was based on domestic skills, grooming, cultural accomplishments, poise and attractiveness. One of Mrs. Giesse's strong points in the week-long competition was her decorating a table.

Her husband, William, served the customary breakfast in bed Sunday, then flew to Cleveland where he is an advertising executive.

Mrs. Giesse said she never entered a contest before and only went into this one at the urging of her sister, Mrs. Mary Jo Barkley of Chagrin Falls, herself a finalist twice in the Ohio contest.

A baby sitter will care for the Giesse children—Billy, 8, Susan, 4, and Bobby, 11 months—in accordance with pageant rules, while Mrs. Giesse appears at home-making shows all over the nation.

Mrs. Giesse said she hoped to emphasize the place of the home and family life during her reign.

With the title went $15,000 in prizes, including a Fort Lauderdale vacation, a trip to Hawaii, a swimming pool, silver service and numerous household appliances.

New Rate Formula OK'd For Ohio Power Co.

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Utilities Commission today permitted the Ohio Power Co. to change its method of computing industrial and commercial electric rates.

The company estimated that the change will result in about an $89,000-a-year rate reduction for most such customers.

The change is in computing rates under the cost-of-fuel clause. When the price of coal used in making electricity rises, electrical rates increase. They go down when the cost of coal falls.

Beirut A "Back Follows Riot In Tripoli

General Strike Forms In Protest Against Pro-West Government

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rioters sacked and burned the U.S. Information Agency library in Beirut today. It was the second USIA library to suffer at the hand of antigovernment demonstrators in three days.

Rioters stirred up by foes of Lebanon's pro-Western government burned the USIA library, many books and furniture Saturday in the north coast city of Tripoli.

The rioters gave no hint as to why they were venting their ire at the United States. But since they were aroused by opponents of the pro-Western government, and to most Middle Easterners the West means the United States, it appeared they were striking out at any handy U.S. target.

A general strike called by the government's opponents crippled this capital and major ports in the north and south today.

One person was reported killed in brief, sporadic firing that security forces quickly halted.

The Tripoli rioting was touched off by a call for a general strike to protest the assassination last Thursday of Nasib Matni, Beirut publisher who opposed President Camille Chamoun and backed the policies of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

NASSER'S RADIO stations in Cairo and Damascus meanwhile broadcast appeals for an open rebellion in Lebanon.

In Beirut today, a mob smashed through police guarding the library, hurled more than 1,000 books and furniture into the street and set the pile ablaze. Then the rioters set fire to the inside of the library and destroyed it.

The library consisted of three reading rooms and storage rooms on the ground floor of the building, which suffered severe damage.

The USIA library here was the target of stones in another demonstration in 1952. Eight students were arrested for that assault.

There was another outburst of fighting later today in the heart of the city but security forces quickly dispersed the demonstrators. There was no immediate indication of whether anyone had been hurt in this flurry, but reports from Basta, the Moslem section, said two were dead there.

Damascus reported that Lebanon had sealed its borders with Syria early in the day and that all travelers were turned back at frontier posts. The Lebanese government is a frequent target for hostile blasts from Damascus and Cairo.

AMERICANS were warned to stay off the streets as the pro-Western government grappled with the violent wave of Arab nationalism.

Virtually all public transportation came to a stop.

Reinforced security forces were stationed at strategic spots throughout the city. Strong patrols

Arab Nationalism Now Eats At Tiny Lebanese Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lebanon, an infant nation both in size and age, is being set afire by the same Arab nationalism that has swept other countries of the Middle East.

Lebanon is only 135 miles long and from 20 to 35 miles wide, hemmed in by the Syrian province of Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic on the east and north and by Israel on the south.

It has had its independence only since 1941. It formerly was a part of the Ottoman Empire.

Lebanon is classified as an Arab country. But more than half the country's 1,300,000 people are Christians.

To keep the political balance, the country's constitution provides that the president shall always be named from among the nearly 700,000 Christians and the premier and speaker of the single chamber of Parliament from the nearly 600,000 Moslems.

The present trouble arises from the fervid nationalism that claims Nasser as its hero and from the determination of President Camille Chamoun to win re-election for a new

They were: Carl McCartney, 47, a widower whose son died in the blaze; the elder McCartney's children, Shirley, 16, and Harry, 11; Mrs. Alice Laws, 38, mother of the two dead children; Mrs. Fern Gravelly, 36, sister of Mrs. Laws; and Jack Johnson, a resident of nearby Mentor who had been visiting at the home of the two families.

Fire Chief John Hartier said the house was "a raging inferno" when firemen got there shortly after 3 a.m. He said the fire started on the second floor, but the cause probably never would be known because the building was consumed.

"We tried to get up there, but we couldn't get through the smoke and fire," said Mrs. Gravelly. "We pounded on the walls of the stairway to wake them, but we could hear nothing, or see nothing. Finally we were forced to run out."

Mrs. Gravelly said she and the elder McCartney were drinking coffee in the kitchen when Harry McCartney came in and said he smelled smoke. They said when they looked upstairs they saw sheets of flame.

Kenyon Instructor, Student Found Dead

MOUNT VERNON (AP)—A preliminary autopsy report indicates a Kenyon College instructor and one of his students were killed by carbon monoxide fumes, Dr. James McLarnan, coroner, reports.

While awaiting a complete report before issuing a formal verdict in the deaths of Edgar Bogardus, 30, of Mount Vernon, and Daniel G. Ray, 22, of Cincinnati, Dr. McLarnan said the two men were found dead Sunday in the Bogardus home here. Police discovered the gas furnace flue was clogged.

'Buy Now' Drives Spurring Sales Throughout Nation

NEW YORK — This could be the year of the salesman — if he works hard enough at beating the consumer bushes with a crowbar.

At least, the hard sell is on to persuade recession-hesitant men and women to unloose the purse strings.

This way, say the men off Madison Ave. sidewalks and Detroit's assembly line, "we've got it licked."

Buy what? Well, one of the first and loudest slogans heard throughout the land was, "You Auto Buy Now." Shop owners are tying in with the idea. The result in cities and towns all over the country is a week, two weeks or month retail effort to sell appliances, TV, clothes or food along with cars.

And buy with what? Personal savings in the U.S.A. are at an all-time high, somewhere between 300 and 340 billion dollars, despite current unemployment.

NOT THAT manufacturers, or for that matter, President Eisenhower, urge a wild spending spree. But the whole effort, with banners, car stickers, speeches and parades has a carnival air.

It started in Cleveland, where auto dealers hustled 15 million dollars worth of new and used cars in a week. Cleveland's auto buy idea ricocheted from New York's Madison Square Garden rafters to 21 key market cities after 2,000 dealers whooped themselves into a selling frenzy. A chorus of circus elephants and tigers punctuated their enthusiasm.

In Saginaw, Mich., women got into the picture to whip up sales spirit in their city with a rousing march across the Saginaw Bridge, whistling Colonel Bogie's march from "Bridge on the River Kawai" to alert merchants of their arrival.

In April Saginaw staged a sales rally parade and ballooned a 101 per cent retail increase in a week.

"Yes, it promises to be a rousing spring," the ANPA Bureau of Advertising in New York reveals happily.

"Right now the idea of selling our way to a healthy economy is

Polio Vaccine Makers Cited 5 Firms Indicted In Antitrust Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Rogers today announced the indictment of five big drug companies for antitrust violations in the sale of polio vaccine to federal and local governments.

The firms were named as: Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.; American Home Products Corp., New York City; Merck & Co., Rahway, N. J., and Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

The companies were described as the sole producers of polio vaccine in this country from the time the success of the Salk formula was announced in April 1955.

The indictment said the total production of polio vaccine through the end of 1957 was slightly more than 205 million cubic centimeters having a value of $125 million.

Of this total, about 104 million cc. were sold to public authorities. The bulk of these purchases were under the Poliomyelitis Vaccination Assistance Act of 1955.

THIS Act provided for allocation of $53 million of federal funds to the states for vaccination programs.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the antitrust division, said:

"The indictment returned today charges that vaccine producers have combined to submit uniform bids to public agencies, to adopt noncompetitive terms and conditions of sale, and to establish uniform pricing methods. Price-fixing activities involving such a significant industry and such substantial sales require criminal action by the department."

22 Persons Heed 'Buy Now' Plea

At least 22 persons spent $31,167 for automobiles locally Friday and Saturday, giving an initial burst to the Circleville New Car Dealers Assn. "You Auto Buy Now" campaign.

It was reported today that the drive to spur Circleville's economy is beginning to take effect here.

Nine local auto dealers launched the campaign Friday with a downtown parade. Sales meetings have been held and most dealers are offering "specials" to attract sales.

Silver dollars have been appearing all over Circleville the last two days. Automobile agencies paid their employees in silver dollars last week to illustrate the importance of automobile dollars in the local business scene.

Members of the New Car Dealers Assn., promoting the "buy now" drive, are Hadden Chevrolet, Pickaway Motors, Wes Edstrom, Flanagan Motors, Yates Buick, Clifton Motor Sales, Ed Helweg, Joe Moats and Circleville Motors.

THE AUTO DEALERS are eager to have other local businesses join them in promoting increased sales "now". The object of the drive: Keep Circleville Business Healthy.

Ohioan Named To Reign As Mrs. America

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Giesse, a slender, 34-year-old housewife from Cleveland, Ohio, today started a series of personal appearances as "Mrs. America 1958."

Mrs. Giesse, brown-haired, hazel-eyed mother of three, was chosen Saturday night in competition with women from the 48 states and District of Columbia.

Judging was based on domestic skills, grooming, cultural accomplishments, poise and attractiveness. One of Mrs. Giesse's strong points in the week-long competition was decorating a table.

Her husband, William, served the customary breakfast in bed Sunday, then flew to Cleveland where he is an advertising executive.

Mrs. Giesse said she never entered a contest before and only went into this one at the urging of her sister, Mrs. Mary Jo Barkley of Chagrin Falls, herself a finalist twice in the Ohio contest.

A baby sitter will care for the Giesse children—Billy, 8, Susan, 4, and Bobby, 11 months—in accordance with pageant rules, while Mrs. Giesse appears at home-making shows all over the nation.

Mrs. Giesse said she hoped to emphasize the place of the home and family life during her reign.

With the title went $15,000 in prizes, including a Fort Lauderdale vacation, a trip to Hawaii, a swimming pool, silver service and numerous household appliances.

New Rate Formula OK'd For Ohio Power Co.

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Utilities Commission today permitted the Ohio Power Co. to change its method of computing industrial and commercial electric rates.

The change will result in about an $89,000-a-year rate reduction for most such customers.

The change is in computing rates under the cost-of-fuel clause. When the price of coal used in making electricity rises, electrical rates increase. They go down when the cost of coal falls.

Beirut Attack Follows Riot In Tripoli

General Strike Forms In Protest Against Pro-West Government

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rioters sacked and burned the U.S. Information Agency library in Beirut today. It was the second USIA library to suffer at the hand of antigovernment demonstrators in three days.

Rioters stirred up by foes of Lebanon's pro-Western government burned the USIA library, many books and furniture Saturday in the north coast city of Tripoli.

The rioters gave no hint as to why they were venting their ire at the United States. But since they were aroused by opponents of the pro-Western government, and to most Middle Easterners the West means the United States, it appeared they were striking out at a handy U.S. target.

A general strike called by the government's opponents crippled this capital and major ports in the north and south today.

One person was reported killed in brief, sporadic firing that security forces quickly halted.

The Tripoli rioting was touched off by a call for a general strike to protest the assassination last Thursday of Nasib Matni, Beirut publisher who opposed President Camille Chamoun and backed the policies of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

NASSER'S RADIO stations in Cairo and Damascus meanwhile broadcast appeals for an open rebellion in Lebanon.

In Beirut today, a mob smashed through police guarding the library, hurled more than 1,000 books and furniture into the street and set the pile ablaze. Then the rioters set fire to the inside of the library and destroyed it.

The library consisted of three reading rooms and storage rooms on the ground floor of the building, which suffered severe damage.

The USIA library here was the target of stones in another demonstration in 1952. Eight students were arrested for that assault.

There was another outburst of fighting later today in the heart of the city but security forces quickly dispersed the demonstrators. There was no immediate indication of whether anyone had been hurt in this flurry, but reports from Basta, the Moslem section, said two were dead there.

Damascus reported that Lebanon had sealed its borders with Syria early in the day and that all travelers were turned back at frontier posts. The Lebanese government is a frequent target for hostile blasts from Damascus and Cairo.

Envoy's Daughter Knifed by Girl, 16

NEW YORK (AP)—The 18-year-old daughter of Iran's chief United Nations delegate was cut on the hand with a penknife in an attack by two girls in Bronx Park.

Police said Frieda Abdoh was walking with a sister, Masti, 12. Frieda told police she noticed two Negro girls staring at them. The girls were about 16. One had a knife strapped to her leg.

One girl tossed a light bulb on the ground. It exploded near Frieda and sister.

When Frieda turned to remonstrate, the knife wielder began ripping at Frieda's skirt.

Arab Nationalism Now Eats At Tiny Lebanese Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lebanon, an infant nation both in size and age, is being set afire by the same Arab nationalism that has swept other countries of the Middle East.

Lebanon is only 135 miles long and from 20 to 35 miles wide, hemmed in by the Syrian province of Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic on the east and north and by Israel on the south. It has had its independence only since 1941. It formerly was a part of the Ottoman Empire.

Lebanon is classified as an Arab country. But more than half the country's 1,300,000 people are Christians.

To keep the political balance, the country's constitution provides that the president shall always be named from among the nearly 700,000 Christians and the premier and speaker of the single chamber of Parliament from the nearly 600,000 Moslems.

The present trouble arises from the fervid nationalism that claims Nasser as its hero and from the determination of President Camille Chamoun to win re-election for a new six-year term.

The pro-Western regime of Chamoun and Premier Sami Solh was disturbed several weeks ago when large numbers of Lebanese shuttled across the frontier into Syria to cheer Nasser on his first visit to his new Syrian province. From time to time the government has had to battle waves of bombings and terrorism stirred up by Syrian nationalists and by Palestinian Arab refugees.

Chamoun and Solh were among the first to accept American aid under the Eisenhower doctrine of assistance to Middle East countries who would resist the Communist threat. They rejected Nasser's "positive neutrality." But lately, the government appeared to be backing off

Select Items In Demand in Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected stocks were in demand as the stock market was mixed in active trading early this afternoon.

Most key stocks showed fractional changes. Wider moves were made by a few issues.

The market backed away from its latest 1958 high and was generally lower in early trading. Improvement set in before midday, leaving the general pattern irregular.

American Motors continued to race ahead as investors looked kindly on reports of expanding production and sales of its Rambler car. It looked as if this stock would top the most active list for the fourth straight session.

Over-all background for the market included an upturn in retail sales, a rise in housing starts for April and a decline in the number of workers drawing unemployment benefits.

American Motors rose 1/4 at 13 1/2 on an opener of 9,000 shares, increased its gain on a succession of sizable blocks and showed a net rise of more than a point by afternoon.

Gains of around two points or more were made by Lockheed and Outboard Marine while Lorillard rose around a point. Corn Products refining was up 1/4 at 41 1/2 on a large block of 11,300 shares.

U.S. Steel, General Motors and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were firm. Du Pont was off a fraction. Santa Fe rose a bit.

U.S. government bonds drifted lower.

'Buy Now'

snowballing," Edward Falasca of the bureau says. At least 227 cities plan to give it the old college try. "Things are going so well," Falasca reports, "it's hard to keep score."

EARLY SCORES reveal that the Auto Buy Now campaign accounted for 50 million dollars in car sales that wouldn't have been made otherwise.

In the heart of auto land, Detroit dealers jumped car registrations 240 per cent in the first 12 days of a drive and Flint tripled its new car sales.

A rainy first week in Akron's drive didn't dampen buyers' enthusiasm; newspaper ads and sales talk sold 1,134 new cars and 885 used ones. The second week 1,694 new cars and 880 used cars had new owners.

Some come-on specials like re-conditioned TVs for $5 are offered, but the main emphasis throughout is on salesmanship.

Cities like Piqua, Ohio, decided not to sell cars but to help used appliance sales. Manufacturers were persuaded to plug better buy appliances and banks were sold on the idea of financing people who wanted to buy.

As a result, appliances moved ahead of a scheduled upturn and business men talk of making this a biannual event.

The Tri-Cities of Davenport, Moline-Rock Island reported sales doubled in the first 11 days of a campaign.

Some persons felt that the buying bubble will pop after the parade is over. Sales is a concentrated period borrow from future sales, they say.

But Cleveland merchandisers point up the heartening appearance of favorable credit applications. Their consumers were "solvent people... good for their money."

OTHER INDUSTRIES like the National Home Laundry Manufacturers Association (18 members make 100 per cent of all appliances) are out to promote a "positive consumer attitude." They agree with a Detroit executive that the economic slump "is a mental disease."

Taking an opposite tack from the aggressive selling approach is a four-month "Confidence in a Growing America" campaign started late in April.

"We don't say buy the way to prosperity," an Advertising Council executive explains. "We just point out that the future in the U. S. is bright. We're out to build confidence through reasoning."

Newspapers, radio, TV, and even theaters, will allot $15 to $20 million in free advertising space and time to spread the seven reasons for faith in the country's future economic stability.

They are: more people, more jobs, more income, more production, more savings, more research and more needs.

Confidence wants to reassure "those who got panicky a few months ago and decided to keep their money in the bank" that they should go ahead with home repairs or buy that new refrigerator.

So, whatever the approach, it all boils down to, "Put some money in the pot, boy."

$50,000 Suit Filed in Court

Mother, Daughter Claim Damages

Genevieve Carroll and daughter Donna Jean, 15, Williamsport, Friday filed separate suits in the Pickaway County Clerk of Court's office against William P. Davis, McConnellsville, and Dwight Willis, Route 2, Circleville for damages amounting to $50,000.

The suits are a result of an automobile accident on Aug. 3, 1957, two miles west of Williamsport on Route 22. The Carroll's alleged that Davis, who was traveling in the same westerly direction, ran into the rear of their motor vehicle.

Immediately after Davis' collision, Willis' auto rammed into the rear of the Davis car forcing the Davis automobile again to smash into the Carroll car.

The Carroll's represented by J. Donald Ratcliff, Chillicothe, contend that Davis and Willis failed to stop their vehicles, reduce speed or divert their course to avoid the collision, failed to keep their cars under reasonable control, failed to keep good lookout or to make reasonable observations as to the presence and location of other automobiles on the highway.

THE plaintiffs continued that the defendants operated their motor vehicles at an unreasonable rate of speed to enable them to stop within an assured clear distance ahead and failed to exercise reasonable care after seeing the plaintiffs' car in position of peril on the highway.

The Carroll's maintain they were thrown against the framework of the car, suffering severe head blows which resulted in headaches, dizziness, nervousness and conditions which will prevail for an indefinite period of time.

They contended they also received neck injuries, chip fractures of the vertebrae. They further noted that spine muscles were torn, lacerated, twisted and sprained which will handicap them for an uncertain period of time.

The plaintiffs continued by stating that they have incurred heavy medical expenses and will have additional expense. Their life has been limited, impaired, and affected and they have been unable to continue normal work, the suit concluded.

Mrs. Carroll is suing for $30,000 and her daughter for $20,000. The defendants have made no answer to date.

$4 Billion FHA Boost Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration today asked Congress for a $4 billion increase in the FHA housing loan insurance program.

Albert M. Cole, housing and home finance administrator, presented the request to a Senate banking subcommittee.

Cole said the extra billions are needed to meet a spurt in the demand for Federal Housing Administration insurance loans.

It would boost to $7 billion the amount of insurance the FHA could issue in the period from now to June 30, 1959.

Trade Legislation Nearing Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee starts showdown voting today on reciprocal trade legislation with the odds seemingly stacked against approval of President Eisenhower's proposals in their present form.

Democratic leaders hoped to hold the line against revisions which would restrict or greatly change the operations of the 24-year-old Trade Agreements Act.

But they were also ready to settle for modifications which, though far short of the President's goal, would still preserve the act which they consider workable.

Decision Seen Needed Over Tax Matters

Time Approaching For Congressmen To Fish or Cut Bait

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The time is near when Congress must fish or cut bait in the muddled tax waters.

Business taxes passed as a Korean War emergency expire in seven weeks.

And in the next few days more official figures on the extent and trend of the slump will be at hand, figures for which the Administration said it was waiting before making up its mind.

The deadline on the corporate income tax and the excises on such things as autos, cigarettes and freight and passenger transportation — plus the clearer view of the recession — could force a decision on tax cuts one way or the other in Congress.

Those who expect tax cuts argue that relief for business, if granted could hardly be unaccompanied by relief for individuals, especially in an election year.

Those opposing any tax cuts now fear that a greater federal deficit and higher debt total would set off more inflation.

Business hopes for tax relief now are highest on two fronts: Some lowering of the excise taxes on goods and services hit by the slump, and a change in the rules on depreciation allowance which might spur more buying of equipment and expansion of plants.

The corporate income tax is set to drop at the end of June from the present 52 per cent to 47 per cent, unless Congress acts. Few businessmen doubt that it will.

But some hope for a compromise — say 50 per cent of gross earnings going to the U.S. Treasury.

The biggest fight, however, is for an excise tax cut. Industry's side of the argument is that this could revive sales of some floundering durable goods, and perhaps help the ailing railroads.

The battle for depreciation relief takes two forms: One proposal is to inspire building of new plants and ordering of new equipment by cutting the time a company can write off its depreciation for tax purposes.

The other is for general revision of depreciation rules. Business argues that existing plants and equipment also shouldn't have to be written off at their original value, but at more realistic replacement values, which are in most cases much higher.

Individuals hoping for some relief, too, from the high personal income tax rates see a chance to get on the bandwagon if business gets any part of what it's asking.

They argue that lowering personal taxes would give most people more money to spend in the retail markets and would give some people more money to channel into investments, particularly into risk capital by which industry goes into new ventures to the future good of the whole economy.

Empty Bucyrus Hotel Is Damaged by Fire

BUCYRUS (AP)—A pre-dawn hotel fire, which might have caused loss of life if another fire hadn't put the hotel out of use last winter, is being investigated today.

The Elbertson Hotel, a four-story brick structure in downtown Bucyrus, caught fire about 3:30 a. m. Sunday. Firemen from Bucyrus and Galion didn't have the blaze whipped until 14 hours later.

Unofficial estimates put damage at between $60-65,000.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 23, happily married, mother of two wonderful children. I have a close friend who has studied psychology. Until she started analyzing me and my feelings I had been bumbling along well content with my relationships. Now I am full of doubts.

In my early teens I had a boy friend and we were very close; in fact I thought we were in love. We had normal good times and also actually cried on each other's shoulders when problems got too big. A bond developed, in three years' dating, so that if one was ill or in trouble, the other sensed it and came no matter how many miles away. This surprised our families but we took it for granted.

Knowing Bob so well, I saw differences in our ways and personalities that I felt wouldn't work in marriage. I married someone else whom I loved; but the bond still existed with Bob — an affection; but not romantic love. After I married, Bob married, too, and is happy.

Recently we met by chance; and rushed into each other's arms. I brought him to meet my husband and they have established a moderate friendship; but Frank (my husband) says he can't ever be good friends with Bob because of our past affection. Bob stops by now and then and visits. I am aware of our deep affection, but wouldn't marry him if given a chance.

Joan has shaken me up quite a bit by suggesting that this is a threat to my marriage; that I still care for Bob but it is "repressed." I discussed this once with Bob, who said Joan needs psychiatric care herself. He confirmed that he cares for me in a platonic way.

Joan says that since some of the early personality flaws have disappeared (as some do in maturity), it would be too easy for me to fall in love with Bob again — inasmuch as affection already exists. What do you think? Is he a threat to my marriage—assuming that all doesn't go well at times with Frank and me? Will Bob's visits make it more difficult to iron out any problems we may have?

B.A.: You have a problem, but it isn't Joan, the parlor analyst. The problem is your selfishness and shadowy lack of integrity.

You are worrying at length about how Bob's visits may cloud your happiness, eventually. But, in your letter, I don't see a word of concern lest you might be spoiling things for Bob and his wife—from the day you rushed to embrace him in a chance encounter, and then led him home to meet your husband, since when you've been keeping him on the string with subtle encouragement.

Actually you don't need to read a crystal ball, or search your psyche with deep analysis, in order to know that you are cheating, here and now, in respect to Bob. So take off the mask. Stop kidding yourself that Joan needs straightening-out. Face the fact that you are trying to lead Bob down the garden path, back to a time when you were the only girl in his life. If you expect your marriage, or his, to last you'd better return, wholeheartedly, to your respective mates — and drop this treacherous habit of reweaving the telepathic bond of yesteryear.

O'Neill, DiSalle Forces Both Happy about Primary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—O'Neill and DiSalle got at least one thing they wanted from the primary election—each other.

Associates of Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill quoted him as saying before Tuesday's voting that he hoped Michael V. DiSalle again would be the Democratic nominee as in 1956.

They said O'Neill up from Marietta in southern Ohio, felt some of DiSalle's opponents for nomination might have been tougher to beat next November than the former Toledo mayor.

DiSalle forces long have said they hoped Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati would not win the GOP nomination because they wanted the O'Neill administration record for a fall campaign target.

They termed Taft's big vote in the primary a protest against O'Neill's first term record and expressed belief that many of those votes would go to DiSalle in the Nov. 4 election.

But Republicans seem to have confidence that most of the Taft votes in the primary would go to O'Neill in the November showdown. Rep. Roger Cloud of Logan County, GOP speaker in the Ohio House, made an estimate of at least 95 per cent.

Taft got 198,599 votes in the unofficial count as a standby candidate without campaigning. O'Neill received 346,554 for about 64 per cent of the GOP total.

Some Republicans said earlier they would regard anything above 20 per cent for Taft as a measure of protest against the O'Neill administration.

O'Neill told his staff before the election that he expected Taft to draw 38 per cent. The governor said he made his guess without benefit of an unpublished Republican poll.

"He is highly respected as a church leader; he was the Republican nominee for governor in 1952 and the Taft name has been on the ballot in about every election for more than 20 years," O'Neill said in explaining his estimate.

He referred to campaigns by the late Robert A. Taft for senator and delegate to national conventions, where he bid for presidential nominations, and to Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland, Ohio Supreme Court judge, in addition to Charles, brother of the senator. Kingsley Taft claims only distant relationship to the Cincinnati Tafts.

Democrats got a big lift from the election. For the first time in two decades, they outvoted Republicans in a statewide primary, records showed. The unofficial total for governor gave Democrats 1,189,046 votes to 98,740 for Republicans.

Republicans attributed their showing to lack of interest in a virtually unopposed slate of incumbents for state offices. U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker also was unopposed for renomination on the GOP ticket.

But Democrats hailed the outcome as proof of their contention that this is their year to oust Republicans from the statehouse.

heavy vote in November would be assured if proponents of an anti-union shop proposal succeed in getting the issue before voters. A total of 7,500 petitions, each with spaces for 50 signatures, have been obtained by sponsors for circulation. A minimum of 305,201 valid names is needed to qualify the question for a popular vote.

Decision Seen Needed Over Tax Matters

Time Approaching For Congressmen To Fish or Cut Bait

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The time is near when Congress must fish or cut bait in the muddled tax waters.

Business taxes passed as a Korean War emergency expire in seven weeks.

And in the next few days more official figures on the extent and trend of the slump will be at hand, figures for which the Administration said it was waiting before making up its mind.

The deadline on the corporate income tax and the excises on such things as autos, cigarettes and freight and passenger transportation — plus the clearer view of the recession — could force a decision on tax cuts one way or the other in Congress.

Those who expect tax cuts argue that relief for business, if granted could hardly be unaccompanied by relief for individuals, especially in an election year.

Those opposing any tax cuts now fear that a greater federal deficit and higher debt total would set off more inflation.

Business hopes for tax relief now are highest on two fronts: Some lowering of the excise taxes on goods and services hit by the slump, and a change in the rules on depreciation allowance which might spur more buying of equipment and expansion of plants.

The corporate income tax is set to drop at the end of June from the present 52 per cent to 47 per cent, unless Congress acts. Few businessmen doubt that it will. But some hope for a compromise — say 50 per cent of gross earnings going to the U.S. Treasury.

The biggest fight, however, is for an excise tax cut. Industry's side of the argument is that this could revive sales of some floundering durable goods, and perhaps help the ailing railroads.

The battle for depreciation relief takes two forms: One proposal is to inspire building of new plants and ordering of new equipment by cutting the time a company can write off its depreciation for tax purposes.

The other is for general revision of depreciation rules. Business argues that existing plants and equipment also shouldn't have to be written off at their original value, but at more realistic replacement values, which are in most cases much higher.

Individuals hoping for some relief, too, from the high personal income tax rates see a chance to get on the bandwagon if business gets any part of what it's asking.

They argue that lowering personal taxes would give most people more money to spend in the retail markets and would give some people more money to channel into investments, particularly into risk capital by which industry goes into new ventures to the future good of the whole economy.

Empty Bucyrus Hotel Is Damaged by Fire

BUCYRUS (AP)—A pre-dawn hotel fire, which might have caused loss of life if another fire hadn't put the hotel out of use last winter, is being investigated today.

The Elberston Hotel, a four-story brick structure in downtown Bucyrus, caught fire about 3:30 a. m. Sunday. Firemen from Bucyrus and Galion didn't have the blaze whipped until 14 hours later.

Unofficial estimates put damage at between $60-65,000.

THE DUNLAP CO. Williamsport, Ohio

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 23, happily married, mother of two wonderful children. I have a close friend who has studied psychology. Until she started analyzing me and my feelings I had been bumbling along well content with my relationships. Now I am full of doubts.

In my early teens I had a boy friend and we were very close; in fact I thought we were in love. We had normal good times and also actually cried on each other's shoulders when problems got too big. A bond developed, in three years' dating, so that if one was ill or in trouble the other sensed it and came no matter how many miles away. This surprised our families but we took it for granted.

Knowing Bob so well, I saw differences in our ways and personalities that I felt wouldn't work in marriage. I married someone else whom I loved; but the bond still existed with Bob — an affection; but not romantic love. After I married, Bob married, too, and is happy.

Recently we met by chance; and rushed into each other's arms. I brought him to meet my husband and they have established a moderate friendship; but Frank (my husband) says he can't ever be good friends with Bob because of our past affection. Bob stops by now and then and visits. I am aware of our deep affection, but wouldn't marry him if given a chance.

Joan has shaken me up quite a bit by suggesting that this is a threat to my marriage; that I still care for Bob but it is "repressed." I discussed this once with Bob, who said Joan needs psychiatric care herself. He confirmed that he cares for me in a platonic way.

Joan says that since some of the early personality flaws have disappeared (as some do in maturity), it would be too easy for me to fall in love with Bob again — inasmuch as affection already exists. What do you think? Is he a threat to my marriage—assuming that all doesn't go well at times with Frank and me? Will Bob's visits make it more difficult to iron out any problems we may have?

B.A.

DEAR B.A.: You have a problem, but it isn't Joan, the parlor analyst. The problem is your selfishness and shadowy lack of integrity.

You are worrying at length about how Bob's visits may cloud your happiness, eventually. But, in your letter, I don't see a word of concern lest you might be spoiling things for Bob and his wife. From the day you rushed to embrace him in a chance encounter, and then led him home to meet your husband, since when you've been keeping him on the string with subtle encouragement.

Actually you don't need to read a crystal ball, or search your psyche with deep analysis, in order to know that you are cheating, here and now, in respect to Bob.

So take off the mask. Stop kidding yourself that Joan needs straightening-out. Face the fact that you are trying to lead Bob down the garden path, back to a time when you were the only girl in his life. If you expect your marriage, or his, to last you'd better return, wholeheartedly, to your respective mates — and drop this treacherous habit of reweaving the telepathic bond of yesteryear.

O'Neill, DiSalle Forces Both Happy about Primary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—O'Neill and DiSalle got at least one thing they wanted from the primary election—each other.

Associates of Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill quoted him as saying before Tuesday's voting that he hoped Michael V. DiSalle again would be the Democratic nominee as in 1956.

They said O'Neill up from Marietta in southern Ohio, felt some of DiSalle's opponents for nomination might have been tougher to beat next November than the former Toledo mayor.

DiSalle forces long have said they hoped Charles F. Taft of Cincinnati would not win the GOP nomination because they wanted the O'Neill administration record for a fall campaign target.

They termed Taft's big vote in the primary a protest against O'Neill's first term record and expressed belief that many of those votes would go to DiSalle in the Nov. 4 election.

But Republicans seem to have confidence that most of the Taft votes in the primary would go to O'Neill in the November showdown. Rep. Roger Cloud of Logan County, GOP speaker in the Ohio House, made an estimate of at least 95 per cent.

Taft got 198,599 votes in the unofficial count as a standby candidate without campaigning. O'Neill received 346,554 for about 64 per cent of the GOP total.

Some Republicans said earlier they would regard anything above 20 per cent for Taft as a measure of protest against the O'Neill administration.

O'Neill told his staff before the election that he expected Taft to draw 38 per cent. The governor said he made his guess without benefit of an unpublished Republican poll.

"He is highly respected as a church leader; he was the Republican nominee for governor in 1952 and the Taft name has been on the ballot in about every election for more than 20 years," O'Neill said in explaining his estimate.

He referred to campaigns by the late Robert A. Taft for senator and delegate to national conventions, where he bid for presidential nominations, and to Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland, Ohio Supreme Court judge, in addition to Charles, brother of the senator. Kingsley Taft claims only distant relationship to the Cincinnati Tafts.

Democrats got a big lift from the election. For the first time in two decades, they outvoted Republicans in a statewide primary, records showed. The unofficial total for governor gave Democrats 1,189,646 votes to 98,740 for Republicans.

Tourists Benefit World

Proof of the growing importance of U.S. tourist travel in international economic affairs is contained in recent U. S. Department of Commerce figures.

The department estimates that foreign travel by Americans has nearly reached the $2 billion annual figure. The figure has been set at $1.9 billion for 1957, with a rise anticipated this year, despite the unsettled economic picture.

What gives these figures a startling perspective is the fact that as short a time ago as 1950 expenditures by Americans for foreign travel were little more than a billion dollars.

This doubling of spending has substantially exceeded the growth of personal income in the period.

It may surprise the average American to learn that from the point of view of the international flow of trade, American tourist spending has been providing the rest of the world with more dollars than any single item imported into this country.

Petroleum imports to the U. S. last year aggregated just over $1.5 billion and coffee, the No. 2 import item, was near the $1.4 billion mark.

Canada and Mexico are the two countries benefiting most from the U. S. tourist bonanza, getting $340 million and $300 million respectively. The countries of Western Europe as a whole gained about a half billion.

Is it any wonder that most countries are doing everything they can to make it as easy as possible for the holders of those green U. S. passports to spend their way from border to border?

Courtin' Main

It costs twice as much to support the average size family as 15 years ago. The question is whether it is twice as much fun.

A Foreigner Among Foreigners

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been said that one out of every three newcomers to New York City first tries to settle in Greenwich Village.

Those who came here from out of town feel that, with whatever talents they have, the odds are more in their favor here than where they come from.

This is the city of the big pitch. It isn't the nation's capital. But it is the city that stares at Washington with the most collected capital and the most collective culture.

When I was a young newspaperman in the hinterland, it was hard to count on a future by the side of your father's river. Your idea of opportunity bordered the Potomac or the Hudson, and I ended up in Greenwich Village.

A transplanted man is not quite like a transplanted tree.

The roots of a tree are in its foot. The roots of a man spring from his heart but cannot flourish in a new soil until his mind approves.

Many and many a tiresome month in good weather and bad, I walked these foreign concrete caverns and felt myself alone and the next man a stranger. So many a man still walks and feels as I felt then.

It takes time for a cat, a cow, a dog, a man to bed down in a new place. I hated this town and yearned for a place I knew as home.

But there came a time when I realized that here I was a foreigner among other foreigners and that, while I could never own this town no one else could either, and the buildings held a granite warmth. A kinship grew between blood and stone.

The true glamor of New York City is that, once you've been here, you can't leave it without missing something. It has the imperial stamp of recognition.

New York examples the powered city at its peak—relentless and purposeful as the Empire State building's rock-based thrust against the sky, as wide and simple and open and confident as Central Park.

Over the years, walking its streets, I came to realize that all the gifts a man can see in one walk—music, art, love, pleasure, the splendor of women and windows—are hoarded here for eye, heart and hand.

For 21 years, the time it takes a man to be born and vote, I have walked this town called Manhattan.

Every day it is fresh and new and different—changeless through perpetual change. It is its own mystery, adventure and reward.

Republican Election Bid

By George Sokolsky

In New York State, the Republican Party is gradually accepting the domination of United States Senator Jacob Javits. The other United States Senator, Irving Ives, who comes up for re-election this year, takes in his stride philosophically and remotely the problems of the day.

The task of the Republican Party in 1958 is to elect a Governor in the place of Averell Harriman, who is a Democrat. Harriman will run for re-election. He may have as his Senatorial nominee either Robert F. Wagner, the Mayor of New York City, Frank S. Hogan, the District Attorney of New York County, or the Rooseveltian Postmaster General, James A. Farley.

If Farley runs, he will attract many Republican votes, no matter who the Republican candidate is. It is not believable that any one of these men would fail to get the Liberal Party endorsement, although David Dubinsky and Alex Rose, two labor leaders who own that party, might be embarrassed if Nelson Rockefeller runs on the Republican ticket either for Governor or Senator.

If Rockefeller runs, Javits cannot lose. Should Rockefeller run for Governor and be elected, he would be in the same general grouping of the party with Javits whose claim to patronage and control of the State Committee he would not oppose. Should Rockefeller be defeated, Javits will have been the last Republican to have been the last to a state wide office. Javits is energetic, aggressive, opportunistic and inordinately ambitious. He singleness of purpose could leave Javits fully in control but with a reduced party to follow him.

Two other candidates will present themselves for the Governorship, Louis Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York and at this moment the only Republican in the state administration, and Leonard Hall, formerly Chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had assumed that he had the endorsement of the Eisenhower Administration.

An important factor in this situation which cannot be disregarded is the position of Thomas E. Dewey, whose influence in New York State remains enormous. It will not be easy for anyone to be nominated of whom Dewey altogether disapproves. Dewey would like to see Harriman defeated not only because Harriman is a Democrat of the New Deal persuasion, but it would appear, by circumstantial evidence, that the gentlemen have a distaste for each other. It would not be characteristic of Dewey to support anyone for the nomination who did not have a fair chance to be elected.

Republican chances are not too bright anywhere in the Northeast. For instance, in Connecticut, the Democratic Governor, Abraham Ribicoff, is unusually popular and can carry his party in on his coat-tails. The Democratic candidates for the nomination for United States Senator include Chester Bowles and Thomas Dodd who have earned a degree of popularity.

The Republican Party which had been badly split now seems to have achieved a degree of unification, but it will take a complete recovery from the depressed economic conditions to overcome the effects of Democratic progress in a state which has had a long history of Republican control. Of course, the population of Connecticut has changed ethnologically from the Anglo-Saxon predominance which made the Connecticut Yankee a rare type of a very mixed population of Eastern and Southern European origin.

Massachusetts may now be regarded as a Democratic state. Little is left of the atmosphere in which the Lowells spoke only to the Cabots and the Cabots spoke only to God. It is a state of very mixed population and small adherence to past traditions. In New Jersey, the primary election this past Winter split the Republican Party in many ways and strengthened the power of Governor Meyner, who is an aspirant for either the first or second place in the 1960 Presidential election.

Pennsylvania Republicans do not particularly want Harold Stassen as their candidate for Governor but Stassen wants to run and there is no way of stopping him. The court action, designed to designate him as a carpetbagger, will not keep Stassen down. His eyes are on 1960 when he hopes to be able to challenge Vice President Nixon, a challenge which will serve no other purpose than to split the Republican Party. Should Stassen be elected Governor of Pennsylvania, he will surely be a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency.

The Civil War which used to make votes and Abraham Lincoln who freed the slaves are no longer an issue.

Safeguard Health on Trips

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

While most of us must be content with a vacation not too far from home, some 2,000,000 or more Americans will visit foreign countries this year.

Hundreds of thousands will travel through Europe and more will visit Mexico and Cuba, Central and South America.

But traveling in a foreign country is not always all pleasure.

Whether you're visiting some underdeveloped regions of the Far East or Africa or even some hygienically advanced European nation, you are constantly faced with the possibility of contracting some form of dysentery. And a case of dysentery can make your trip a pretty miserable one.

The threat of an attack of dysentery is especially prevalent in certain sections of Mexico.

Lack of proper hygienic facilities, of course, plays an important part in development of the disorder.

Changes in climate or diet, for example, make a traveler especially susceptible to simple infectious diarrhea. Heavy eating and hard exercise in high altitudes also can be a contributing factor.

If you are a wise traveler, you will not drink any water that is not boiled except in the best restaurants and hotels. Best plan is to drink only mineral water if there is the slightest chance of contamination.

Even when you brush your teeth, use mineral water rather than plain tap water.

New Importance Is Attached To Ancient City of Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—This steaming hot city on the Tigris is assuming an importance it has not known since the thousand and one nights.

With completion of formalities implementing the merger of Iraq and Jordan in the Arab Union, Baghdad officially becomes the capital of a new nation stretching from the Zagros Mountains near the Soviet frontier to the Gulf of Aqaba and the Israeli armistice line.

This still is a far cry from the domains ruled by the fabulous caliphs of Baghdad during the Golden Age of Islam, an empire that spread from the borders of India to Morocco's Atlas Mountains. Even so, the Arab federation represents a big step forward in the revival of Baghdad after four centuries of oblivion under foreign rule.

Baghdad is quiet politically but booming economically. Stimulated largely by huge oil incomes, Baghdad has been transformed in seven years from a 19th century Turkish town into a 20th century city with a population crowding the million mark.

Baghdad died in the 13th century when the Mongol conqueror Hulagu Khan devastated the city and trampled the last caliph to death under his horse's hoofs. Baghdad became a forgotten town of the Ottoman Turkish empire and remained so till after World War I, when it became the capital of independent Iraq.

But for three more decades Baghdad remained the ugliest and most uncomfortable of Arab capitals. Its one thoroughfare, the nostalgically named Harun El Rashid Street, too narrow for modern traffic, was flanked by dingy shops.

Oil money has brought broad new boulevards and avenues plunging through former slums. New bridges span the Tigris, new hotels welcome visitors. Flash American cars are crowding broken down jalopies and horse-drawn carriages from the streets.

This boom has not caused the government to relax its guard against subversive political activity. Iraqi authorities are tougher

Tourists Benefit World

Proof of the growing importance of U.S. tourist travel in international economic affairs is contained in recent U. S. Department of Commerce figures.

The department estimates that foreign travel by Americans has nearly reached the $2 billion annual figure. The figure has been set at $1.9 billion for 1957, with a rise anticipated this year, despite the unsettled economic picture.

What gives these figures a startling perspective is the fact that as short a time ago as 1950 expenditures by Americans for foreign travel were little more than a billion dollars.

This doubling of spending has substantially exceeded the growth of personal income in the period.

It may surprise the average American to learn that from the point of view of the international flow of trade, American tourist spending has been providing the rest of the world with more dollars than any single item imported into this country.

Petroleum imports to the U. S. last year

aggregated just over $1.5 billion and coffee, the No. 2 import item, was near the $1.4 billion mark.

Canada and Mexico are the two countries benefiting most from the U. S. tourist bonanza, getting $340 million and $300 million respectively. The countries of Western Europe as a whole gained about a half billion.

Is it any wonder that most countries are doing everything they can to make it as easy as possible for the holders of those green U. S. passports to spend their way from border to border?

A Foreigner Among Foreigners

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been said that one out of every three newcomers to New York City first tries to settle in Greenwich Village.

I was one of the three. Those who came here from out of town feel that, with whatever talents they have, the odds are more in their favor here than where they come from.

This is the city of the big pitch. It isn't the nation's capital. But it is the city that stares at Washington with the most collected capital and the most collected culture.

When I was a young newspaperman in the hinterland, it was hard to count on a future by the side of your father's river. Your idea of opportunity bordered the Potomac or the Hudson, and I ended up in Greenwich Village.

A transplanted man is not quite like a transplanted tree.

The roots of a tree are in its foot. The roots of a man spring from his heart but cannot flourish in a new soil until his mind approves.

Many and many a tiresome month in good weather and bad, I walked these foreign concrete caverns and felt myself alone and the next man a stranger. So many a man still walks and feels as I felt then.

It takes time for a cat, a cow, a dog, a man to bed down in a new place. I hated this town and yearned for a place I knew as home.

But there came a time when I realized that here I was a foreigner among other foreigners and that, while I could never own this town no one else could either, and the buildings held a granite warmth. A kinship grew between blood and stone.

The true glamor of New York City is that, once you've been here, you can't leave it without missing something. It has the imperial stamp of recognition.

New York examples the powered city at its peak—relentless and purposeful as the Empire State building's rock-based thrust against the sky, as wide and simple and open and confident as Central Park.

Over the years, walking its streets, I came to realize that all the gifts a man can see in one walk—music, art, love, pleasure, the splendor of women and windows—are hoarded here for eye, heart and hand.

For 21 years, the time it takes a man to be born and vote, I have walked this town called Manhattan.

Every day it is fresh and new and different—changeless through perpetual change. It is its own mystery, adventure and reward.

Republican Election Bid

By George Sokolsky

In New York State, the Republican Party is gradually accepting the domination of United States Senator Jacob Javits. The other United States Senator, Irving Ives, who comes up for re-election this year, takes in his stride philosophically and remotely the problems of the day.

The task of the Republican Party in 1958 is to elect a Governor in the place of Averell Harriman, who is a Democrat. Harriman will run for re-election. He may have as his Senatorial nominee either Robert F. Wagner, the Mayor of New York City, Frank S. Hogan, the District Attorney of New York County, or the Rooseveltian Postmaster General, James A. Farley.

If Farley runs, he will attract many Republican votes, no matter who the Republican candidate is. It is not believable that any one of these men would fail to get the Liberal Party endorsement, although David Dubinsky and Alex Rose, two labor leaders who own that party, might be embarrassed if Nelson Rockefeller runs on the Republican ticket either for Governor or Senator.

If Rockefeller runs, Javits cannot lose. Should Rockefeller run for Governor and be elected, he would be in the same general grouping of the party with Javits whose claim to patronage and control of the State Committee he would not oppose. Should Rockefeller be defeated, Javits will have been the last Republican to have been the last to a state wide office. Javits is energetic, aggressive, opportunistic and inordinately ambitious. He singleness of purpose could leave Javits fully in control but with a reduced party to follow him.

Two other candidates will present themselves for the Governorship, Louis Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York and at this moment the only Republican in the state administration, and Leonard Hall, formerly Chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had assumed that he had the endorsement of the Eisenhower Administration.

An important factor in this situation which cannot be disregarded is the position of Thomas E. Dewey, whose influence in New York State remains enormous. It will not be easy for anyone to be nominated of whom Dewey altogether disapproves. Dewey would like to see Harriman defeated not only because Harriman is a Democrat of the New Deal persuasion, but it would appear, by circumstantial evidence, that the gentlemen have a distaste for each other. It would not be characteristic of Dewey to support anyone for the nomination who did not have a fair chance to be elected.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers necticut, the Democratic Governor, Abraham Ribicoff, is unusually popular and can carry his party in on his coat-tails. The Democratic candidates for the nomination for United States Senator include Chester Bowles and Thomas Dodd who have earned a degree of popularity.

The Republican Party which had been badly split now seems to have achieved a degree of unification, but it will take a complete recovery from the depressed economic conditions to overcome the effects of Democratic progress in a state which has had a long history of Republican control. Of course, the population of Connecticut has changed ethnologically from the Anglo-Saxon predominance which made the Connecticut Yankee a rare type of a very mixed population of Eastern and Southern European origin.

Massachusetts may now be regarded as a Democratic state. Little is left of the atmosphere in which the Lowells spoke only to the Cabots and the Cabots spoke only to God. It is a state of very mixed population and small adherence to past traditions. In New Jersey, the primary election this past Winter split the Republican Party in many ways and strengthened the power of Governor Meyner, who is an aspirant for either the first or second place in the 1960 Presidential election.

Pennsylvania Republicans do not particularly want Harold Stassen as their candidate for Governor but Stassen wants to run and there is no way of stopping him. The court action, designed to designate him as a carpetbagger, will not keep Stassen down. His eyes are on 1960 when he hopes to be able to challenge Vice President Nixon, a challenge which will serve no other purpose than to split the Republican Party. Should Stassen be elected Governor of Pennsylvania, he will surely be a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency.

The Civil War which used to make votes and Abraham Lincoln who freed the slaves are no longer an issue.

Safeguard Health on Trips

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

While most of us must be content with a vacation not too far from home, some 2,000,000 or more Americans will visit foreign countries this year.

Hundreds of thousands will travel through Europe and more will visit Mexico and Cuba, Central and South America.

But traveling in a foreign country is not always all pleasure.

Whether you're visiting some underdeveloped regions of the Far East or Africa or even some hygienically advanced European nation, you are constantly faced with the possibility of contracting some form of dysentery. And a case of dysentery can make your trip a pretty miserable one.

The threat of an attack of dysentery is especially prevalent in certain sections of Mexico.

Lack of proper hygienic facilities, of course, plays an important part in development of the disorder.

Changes in climate or diet, for example, make a traveler especially susceptible to simple infectious diarrhea. Heavy eating and hard exercise in high altitudes also can be a contributing factor.

If you are a wise traveler, you will not drink any water that is not boiled except in the best restaurants and hotels. Best plan is to drink only mineral water if there is the slightest chance of contamination.

Even when you brush your teeth, use mineral water rather than plain tap water.

New Importance Is Attached To Ancient City of Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—This steaming hot city on the Tigris is assuming an importance it has not known since the thousand and one nights.

With completion of formalities implementing the merger of Iraq and Jordan in the Arab Union, Baghdad officially becomes the capital of a new nation stretching from the Zagbros Mountains near the Soviet frontier to the Gulf of Aqaba and the Israeli armistice line.

This still is a far cry from the domains ruled by the fabulous caliphs of Baghdad during the Golden Age of Islam, an empire that spread from the borders of India to Morocco's Atlas Mountains. Even so, the Arab federation represents a big step forward in the revival of Baghdad after four centuries of oblivion under foreign rule.

Baghdad is quiet politically but booming economically. Stimulated largely by huge oil incomes, Baghdad has been transformed in seven years from a 19th century Turkish town into a 20th century city with a population crowding the million mark.

Baghdad died in the 13th century when the Mongol conqueror Hulagu Khan devastated the city and trampled the last caliph to death under his horse's hoofs. Baghdad became a forgotten town of the Ottoman Turkish empire and remained so till after World War I, when it became the capital of independent Iraq.

But for three more decades Baghdad remained the ugliest and most uncomfortable of Arab capitals. Its one thoroughfare, the nostalgically named Harun El Rashid Street, too narrow for modern traffic, was flanked by dingy shops.

Oil money has brought broad new boulevards and avenues plunging through former slums. New bridges span the Tigris, new hotels welcome visitors. Flash American cars are crowding broken down jalopies and horse-drawn carriages from the streets.

This boom has not caused the government to relax its guard against subversive political activity. Iraqi authorities are tougher

Ohio's Ancient 'Blue Laws' Said Difficult To Enforce

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's century-old "Blue Laws" pose a touchy enforcement problem throughout the state.

Officials in major cities see little help in a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision upholding the statutes that ban various Sunday activities.

"The decision didn't do anything on enforcement," asserted City Prosecutor Bernard T. Chupka of Columbus.

"The trouble is that the law permits certain exceptions—work of necessity—that always make it difficult to pin down proof," explained Robert Konwin, assistant law director of Toledo.

Ralph Locher, Cleveland city law director, expressed belief that the next Legislature might clarify the "Blue Laws."

The Ohio House, during the 1957 session, approved a proposal to modernize those statutes but it died unmentioned in the Senate.

Lawmakers indicated an apparent reluctance to make extensive changes in the laws dealing with religious and other issues.

The present law reads:

"No person who is over 14 years of age shall engage in common labor or open or cause to be opened a building or place for transaction of business or require a person in his employ or under his control to engage in common labor on Sunday. . . .

"This section does not apply to work of necessity or charity and does not extend to persons who conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath and abstain therefrom from doing things prohibited on Sunday."

Other sections provide a series of exceptions permitting necessary work and various forms of amusement and recreation, including Sunday afternoon baseball, movies and sale of 3.2 beer.

Merchants in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Hamilton lost their appeal to the state's highest court from convictions for selling various goods in their stores on the Sabbath. The case also involved convictions of their clerks.

Purchases in the food markets and variety stores on Sunday included such items as groceries, soap, insect spray, flashlight bulbs and an electric iron.

"Opening a place of business for the sale of articles on Sunday which, with reasonable foresight, could have been bought the preceding day—as in all the cases involved here—is not 'work of necessity' within the meaning of the statutory exception," the Supreme Court said.

The unanimous decision observed that the laws do not interfere with religious worship or beliefs, as claimed by the merchants, and added:

"Whether in this fast-moving modern age the Sunday closing law is outmoded, obsolete and unrealistic and should be eradicated is essentially a legislative and not a judicial problem. Of course, recognition and enforcement of the law depends largely upon the sentiment in the locality and the attitude of the law enforcement agencies of that community."

City Solicitor James W. Farrell Jr. of Cincinnati observed that the "Blue Laws" have been on the statute books for 100 years and said:

"They have been and will continue to be enforced. We take the laws as we find them. We are not going to change our position."

In Cleveland, Locher said conferences with business organizations resulted in compliance generally. "We have not made a crusade against Sunday openings here," he reported. "Where a person is ready, able and willing to sign a complaint affidavit, we will prosecute."

Locher said one caller asked enforcement of blue laws to prevent a recent Metropolitan Opera performance on Sunday.

Chupka said in Columbus that blue law prosecutions a year or more ago resulted in both conviction and acquittal cases. No complaints have been filed since then although some stores advertise sales and do business on Sunday, he said. All complaints will be looked into, he added.

In Toledo, Assistant County Prosecutor Joe Jan indicated a hands off attitude.

"We don't expect to take any action," he said. "First, there have to be complaints made by the proper parties to the police or sheriff. And then our only role would be to prosecute the case but we're not going out looking for violations."

Bethlehem-Youngstown Steel Merger Pondered by Judge

NEW YORK (AP)—Testimony has ended in the government's anti-trust action against the proposed merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

It may be near the end of summer, however, before Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld reaches a decision in the non-jury trial. The trial began April 15.

During the testimony, which ended Friday, friends of the two companies hammered away at the need for a bigger steel industry to keep up with a growing America.

The government should not feel the merger will stifle competition just because the three-billion-dollar plan is a "real whopper," one of them said last week.

"If you want to have competition in building big buildings across a big country you need big companies."

That was how Dr. Paul W. Cook Jr. of the Harvard School of Business Administration, tried to reinforce Bethlehem's argument that the merger will increase competition by putting Bethlehem in U.S. Steel's Midwest backyard. Now most of Bethlehem's plants are in the East and West; it plans to enlarge Youngstown's Midwest plants if the merger goes through.

Two other college professors and a Bethlehem economist favored the merger as helping the very public which the anti-trust laws were designed to protect.

Robert D. Woodward, said, in effect, the merger and plans for expansion following it are not so big, they just look big.

Woodward, who forecasts economic trends for Bethlehem, said in 12 years the nation is going to need 30 per cent more steel than it can make now. He said the capacity will have to increase from 140 million tons to 184 million tons. Of the 44 million-ton increase, 35 million will be needed in the central United States—13 million of it in the Chicago area alone.

His intent was obviously to contrast these staggering figures with the projected result of the Bethlehem merger: Two million more tons in the Chicago area and 600,000 tons around Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. John Perry Miller, professor of economics at Yale University, said the disadvantages to some Youngstown customers at losing a supplier would be small in comparison to the advantage to the whole Midwest of a new steel mill.

Dr. Ben W. Lewis, chairman of the Economics Department at Oberlin College, said the merger was the best way to increase steel capacity in the Chicago area. He also contributed to the theme that more, not less, competition would result.

The government has suggested that Bethlehem could add to the Midwest's steel capacity all it wanted by simply building new steel plants. Bethlehem says this would be prohibitively expensive compared to the cost of merging and expanding Youngstown's existing plants.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—What happens if Congress ignores President Eisenhower's request to continue the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act and lets it die? Not much—for awhile, anyway.

For example: Eisenhower couldn't then agree to lower any more tariffs on goods imported from abroad. But all the present agreements with 43 countries—under which various tariffs have been lowered—would stand unchanged.

Bit by bit, over a period of time, he might be pushed into raising tariffs, thus beginning the wreckage of all the good will built up over 24 years. There would be a diminishing confidence abroad in American trade policies.

But Eisenhower might actually prefer to see the act die this year—in the hope of getting it renewed next year—than to have Congress extend it for a year but put in changes that would start ripping trade agreements apart in a hurry.

This is the background: The Smoot-Hawley tariff law which Congress passed in 1930 not only raised American tariffs to the highest point in history but—since other countries retaliated—contributed to the depression here and abroad in the 1930s.

To get world trade going again Congress in 1934 passed the Reciprocal Trade Act.

It gave the President authority to lower tariffs on certain goods imported from other countries if they agreed to lower their tariffs on certain items imported from us.

In these agreements there was an escape clause which either side could use.

For example: If an American manufacturer felt he was being injured because a tariff had been lowered on some particular import which competed in the American market he could appeal to the United States Tariff Commission.

The commission would hold hearings, make an investigation, and perhaps recommend to the President that he use the escape clause to raise the tariff on an import which, in agreement with another country, he had lowered.

Under the act the President was free to suit himself; raise the tariff or reject the commission's recommendations and let the tariff stand untouched.

That brings us up to now. The Trade Act never was permanent law. Over 24 years it has been repeatedly renewed by Congress for a specified period of time. Otherwise it would have died.

It will die automatically June 30 unless Congress renews it. Eisenhower asked for it to be extended five more years. As explained, if it dies, present agreements remain unchanged. The escape clause remains unchanged, too.

If the law dies a manufacturer can appeal to the Tariff Commission. It can recommend to Eisenhower that an agreed-on tariff be raised. He'd still be free to raise it or let it stand as is. But he couldn't lower any more tariffs.

But this is a recession year. A number of businesses complain that some imports—whose tariffs are now part of agreements with other countries—are hurting them. So the Trade Act has many foes inside and outside Congress.

By James Marlow

If the act dies, there will be increasing pressure on Eisenhower to use the escape clause to raise tariffs. If he does so, other countries will retaliate by using the escape clause to raise tariffs against us.

But if the law dies he can still reject the increases and in another year—particularly if the recession recedes—can go back and ask with better hope of success that the law be renewed again.

The act's enemies might do the whole trade program more damage by renewing it this year with crippling changes.

They might include a provision giving Eisenhower no choice but to raise tariffs if the Tariff Commission recommended the action to protect an injured American industry.

The government should not feel the merger will stifle competition just because the three-billion-dollar plan is a "real whopper," one of them said last week.

"If you want to have competition in building big buildings across a big country you need big companies."

That was how Dr. Paul W. Cook Jr. of the Harvard School of Business Administration, tried to reinforce Bethlehem's argument that the merger will increase competition by putting Bethlehem in U.S. Steel's Midwest backyard. Now most of Bethlehem's plants are in the East and West; it plans to enlarge Youngstown's Midwest plants if the merger goes through.

Two other college professors and a Bethlehem economist favored the merger as helping the very public which the anti-trust laws were designed to protect.

Robert D. Woodward, said, in effect, the merger and plans for expansion following it are not so big, they just look big.

Woodward, who forecasts economic trends for Bethlehem, said in 12 years the nation is going to need 30 per cent more steel than it can make now. He said the capacity will have to increase from 140 million tons to 184 million tons. Of the 44 million-ton increase, 35 million will be needed in the central United States—13 million of it in the Chicago area alone.

His intent was obviously to contrast these staggering figures with the projected result of the Bethlehem merger: Two million more tons in the Chicago area and 600,000 tons around Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. John Perry Miller, professor of economics at Yale University, said the disadvantages to some Youngstown customers at losing a supplier would be small in comparison to the advantage to the whole Midwest of a new steel mill.

Dr. Ben W. Lewis, chairman of the Economics Department at Oberlin College, said the merger was the best way to increase steel capacity in the Chicago area. He also contributed to the theme that more, not less, competition would result.

The government has suggested that Bethlehem could add to the Midwest's steel capacity all it wanted by simply building new steel plants. Bethlehem says this would be prohibitively expensive compared to the cost of merging and expanding Youngstown's existing plants.

Ohio Courts To Get Prosecution Funds

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's county courts, some of which haven't been paid for cases tried 15 years ago, will be reimbursed for the cost of prosecuting criminal cases.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said the state owes counties more than $763,000 for costs as far back as 1943.

There is nearly $68,000 left from $205,000 appropriated by the Legislature to pay the bills this fiscal year, he said. This will go toward May and June court bills.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—What happens if Congress ignores President Eisenhower's request to continue the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act and lets it die? Not much—for awhile, anyway.

For example: Eisenhower couldn't then agree to lower any more tariffs on goods imported from abroad. But all the present agreements with 43 countries—under which various tariffs have been lowered—would stand unchanged.

Bit by bit, over a period of time, he might be pushed into raising tariffs, thus beginning the wreckage of all the good will built up over 24 years. There would be a diminishing confidence abroad in American trade policies.

But Eisenhower might actually prefer to see the act die this year—in the hope of getting it renewed next year—than to have Congress extend it for a year but put in changes that would start ripping trade agreements apart in a hurry.

This is the background: The Smoot-Hawley tariff law which Congress passed in 1930 not only raised American tariffs to the highest point in history but—since other countries retaliated—contributed to the depression here and abroad in the 1930s.

To get world trade going again Congress in 1940 passed the Reciprocal Trade Act.

It gave the President authority to lower tariffs on certain goods imported from other countries if they agreed to lower their tariffs on certain items imported from us.

In these agreements there was an escape clause which either side could use.

For example: If an American manufacturer felt he was being injured because a tariff had been lowered on some particular import which competed in the American market he could appeal to the United States Tariff Commission.

The commission would hold hearings, make an investigation, and perhaps recommend to the President that he use the escape clause to raise the tariff on an import which, in agreement with another country, he had lowered.

Under the act the President was free to suit himself: raise the tariff or reject the commission's recommendations and let the tariff stand untouched.

That brings us up to now. The Trade Act never was permanent law. Over 24 years it has been repeatedly renewed by Congress for a specified period of time. Otherwise it would have died.

It will die automatically June 30 unless Congress renews it. Eisenhower asked for it to be extended five more years. As explained, if it dies, present agreements remain unchanged. The escape clause remains unchanged, too.

If the law dies a manufacturer can appeal to the Tariff Commission. It can recommend to Eisenhower that an agreed-on tariff be raised. He'd still be free to raise it or let it stand as is. But he couldn't lower any more tariffs.

But this is a recession year. A number of businesses complain that some imports—whose tariffs are now part of agreements with other countries—are hurting them. So the Trade Act has many foes inside and outside Congress.

By James Marlow

If the act dies, there will be increasing pressure on Eisenhower to use the escape clause to raise tariffs. If he does so, other countries will retaliate by using the escape clause to raise tariffs against us.

But if the law dies he can still reject the increases and in another year—particularly if the recession recedes—can go back and ask with better hope of success that the law be renewed again.

The act's enemies might do the whole trade program more damage by renewing it this year with crippling changes.

They might include a provision giving Eisenhower no choice but to raise tariffs if the Tariff Commission recommended the action to protect an injured American industry.

3000th Hit Still Awaited By Stan Musial

But Few Will Doubt That He's Greatest In National League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stan (The Man) Musial is still shy two hits of becoming the eighth player in major league history to reach the 3,000-hit pinnacle but anyone who says he isn't the greatest star ever spawned by the National League is certain to get an argument.

The brilliant St. Louis Cardinal first baseman almost made it Sunday. He rapped five hits as the Redbirds came from behind with ninth inning rallies to overcome the Chicago Cubs twice 8-7 and 6-5 for a sweep of the four game series. One of his hits was his fifth home run of the campaign. Musial ranks first in the league in lifetime total bases (5,106), first in long hits (1,171), second in extra bases (2,108), second in home runs (386), second in doubles (620), fifth in runs scored (1,677) and fourth in hits.

Milwaukee ran its winning streak to seven straight with a 7-6 triumph over Cincinnati. Pittsburgh moved into a second place tie with San Francisco, one game behind the Braves, sweeping a twin bill from Philadelphia 10-4 and 1-0 in 11 innings. Rain forced postponement of the Giants-Los Angeles game in San Francisco.

Irv Noren and Hobie Landrith delivered game-winning ninth inning hits as the Cards won their third and fourth in a row after seven straight losses. Noren's drive off the right field screen scored Curt Flood after Del Ennis had singled in the tying run in the opener. Landrith drove in two with a bases loaded single and a third run, the winning tally, crossed the plate when Bobby Thomson fumbled the ball in center.

Bob Porterfield, a waiver purchase from Boston, pitched a brilliant 11-inning shutout in a duel with Philadelphia's Curt Simmons as the Pirates swept a four-game series with the Phillies. The 33-year-old righthander allowed eight hits for his first victory of the year. R. C. Stevens, thrice a strikeout victim of Simmons, singled in the winning run, after Dick Groat opened the 11th with a single and advanced to second on a sacrifice.

Del Crandall's three-run double in the eighth overcame a 3-4 Cincinnati lead and gave the Braves their fourth victory in five games with the Reds.

American League managers learned Sunday they no longer can rely on pitchers' previous performances against a particular team. Those who were supposed to win were beaten and those who figured to lose were successful.

The most pronounced examples were Arnold Portocarrero, Camilo Pascual, Jack Urban, Jim Wilson, Bobby Shantz and Billy Pierce. Portocarrero, making his first start since Baltimore obtained him from Kansas City, combined with George Zuverink to shut out Boston as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from the Red Sox 3-2 and 4-0. The big right-hander had never beaten the Red Sox.

Pascual, with only one previous victory over New York in 12 decisions, shut out the Yankees 4-0 after the American League leaders had beaten Washington 4-3 in the first game of the doubleheader. Bobby Shantz beat the Senators, to whom he had bowed 12 previous times in 22 decisions.

Detroit handed Kansas City its sixth straight defeat, 10-3, clubbing Urban for eight runs before they shelled him out in the eighth. The Athletics' right-hander had never before been beaten by the Tigers.

Jim Wilson pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 triumph over Cleveland after the Indians had won the first game 4-2. Wilson had a 4.9 lifetime record against the

Ohio 4-Ply Spring Sports Show Due Next Weekend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's four-ply spring sports program, in which more than 25,000 youngsters participate, hits its peak next weekend.

Thousands of the budding athletes will be shunted aside in track - field, golf, tennis and baseball qualifiers. The survivors of the talent tests will move on to the state championships May 23, 24 and 26 at Ohio State University's athletic plant.

Next weekend's track-field district qualifiers will feature 719 schools and thousands of boys in Class AA runoffs at Delaware, Uhrichsville, Elyria, Cleveland, Mentor, Salem, North Canton, Bowling Green, Mansfield, Athens, Cincinnati and Dayton, and Class A qualifiers at Delaware, Uhrichsville, Chagrin Falls, Berea, Salem, Bowling Green, Mansfield, Athens, Springfield and Cincinnati.

Last year 138 Class AA schools qualified 424 boys for the state meet, and 108 Class A schools sent 327 kids into the title chase. Springfield's Wildcats, coached by Bill Clauss, snatched the Class AA crown with 26 1/2 points—although winning only two of 12 events—as Lakewood finished second with 17.

Jefferson Twp. of Montgomery County and Newton Falls Braceville split the Class A laurels, each garnering 24 points to 18 for Cincinnati Deporres. The upcoming state track meet is the 49th annual cinder competition.

District golf qualifiers for the 32nd annual state championships are slated next weekend at Columbus, St. Clairsville, Cleveland, Kent, Toledo, Mansfield, Athens, Dayton and Cincinnati, with 211 schools competing. No classes are recognized in the golf competition in which Jackie Nicklaus of Upper Arlington took the 1957 individual crown with 72-76-148 for the 36-hole route, and Cincinnati St. Xavier won the four-man team title with a 660 score, seven strokes a head of Sandusky. This year's golf championship will be decided Monday, May 26, over 36 holes of medal play. The event was postponed from Friday-Saturday, May 23-24, because the Western Conference championship is being decided those days at the Buckeye layout.

District tennis qualifiers, for entrants from 108 schools, will be held next weekend at Columbus, Cleveland, Akron, Bowling Green, Dayton and Cincinnati, with the victors advancing to the 39th state title meet. A year ago the single crown went to Jerry Levin of Cincinnati Country Day school, and the doubles to Gordon Smith and John Kline of Mansfield.

While the track-field, golf and tennis stars are competing in district qualifiers, the baseball teams will be down to regional play next weekend. Of the 873 teams which started diamond play, only 32 are left—16 in each class.

In the regionals two teams from the central district, and one each from the east and southeast, will play at Columbus in Class AA; three northeast and one east at Kent; four northwest at Kalida, and three southwest and one southeast at Dayton. In Class A the regional setup has two northeast, one east and one southeast team at Bridgeport, four northeast at Cleveland, two northwest and two central at Lima, and four southwest at Cincinnati.

Last year Reading won the Class AA crown—but is already among the also-rans this season—and Middleport took the Class A title. One team from each regional will advance to the 31st annual state finals, slashing the field to four in each division for the title contests.

Rain Brings Race Matinee Postponement

The local Jaycee Harness Matinee scheduled at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds yesterday was postponed due to wet grounds.

Matinee officials said the annual event will be held Sunday, weather permitting. Heavy rain during the week and early Sunday morning left the track in a muddy condition, racing officials said.

Approximately 39 horses trained and readied at the local fairgrounds were all set for action. Jaycee members said the same exciting show is planned Sunday providing the weather-men cooperates.

Thinclads Enter Arlington Relays

Track Coaches Tom Bennett and John Current will enter their two Circleville High School relay teams and hurdles, mile and 440-men in the Upper Arlington Relays tomorrow.

Larry Hannahs is scheduled to run in both hurdle events, Bill Johnson will participate in the mile run and Gary Vandemark will perform in the 440-yard run. Preliminaries are slated tomorrow afternoon and finals tomorrow night.

Round Table Wins, Is Millionaire Now

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) — Round Table is a millionaire. By winning the $50,000 Caliente Handicap Sunday, he joined Citation and Nashua as the only horses to earn more than a million dollars. The $31,800 he picked up brought Round Table's earnings to $1,005,764.

In winning, he smashed the track record for the mile and one-sixteenth. He was clocked in 1:41 1-5 with Willie Shoemaker in the saddle. Matinee Idol set the previous record in 1955 at 1:42 1-5.

Golfers Prepping For Jubilee Test

Local golfers are in final preparation for the annual Men's Spring Jubilee Golf Roundup Wednesday at the Pickaway Country Club.

Featured are nine and 18-hole golf matches, hole in one, drifting and putting contests. A buffet dinner will follow activity on the links.

Tickets are available through the men's golf committee and George Fickhardt at the pro shop.

Frisco Giants Travel After Gala Home Start

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants hit the road today after cutting a wide swath, both on the field and at the box office, in their initial stand in new home territory.

On the field, the Giants were 15-9 in the National League won-lost column, just a game behind first place Milwaukee.

At the box office, the attendance count for the first 20 home dates total 304,257, an average of 15,213. The Polo Grounds total for the same period last year: 182,285.

Rain Brings Race Matinee Postponement

The local Jaycee Harness Matinee scheduled at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds yesterday was postponed due to wet grounds.

Matinee officials said the annual event will be held Sunday, weather permitting. Heavy rain during the week and early Sunday morning left the track in a muddy condition, racing officials said.

Approximately 39 horses trained and readied at the local fairgrounds were all set for action. Jaycee members said the same exciting show is planned Sunday providing the weather-man cooperates.

Thinclads Enter Arlington Relays

Track Coaches Tom Bennett and John Current will enter their two Circleville High School relay teams and hurdles, mile and 440-men in the Upper Arlington Relays tomorrow.

Larry Hannahs is scheduled to run in both hurdle events, Bill Johnson will participate in the mile run and Gary Vandemark will perform in the 440-yard run. Preliminaries are slated tomorrow afternoon and finals tomorrow night.

Round Table Wins, Is Millionaire Now

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) — Round Table is a millionaire.

By winning the $50,000 Caliente Handicap Sunday, he joined Citation and Nashua as the only horses to earn more than a million dollars. The $31,800 he picked up brought Round Table's earnings to $1,005,764.

In winning, he smashed the track record for the mile and one-sixteenth. He was clocked in 1:41 1-5 with Willie Shoemaker in the saddle. Matinee Idol set the previous record in 1955 at 1:42 1-5.

Golfers Prepping For Jubilee Test

Local golfers are in final preparation for the annual Men's Spring Jubilee Golf Roundup Wednesday at the Pickaway Country Club.

Featured are nine and 18-hole golf matches, hole in one, driving and putting contests. A buffet dinner will follow activity on the links.

Tickets are available through the men's golf committee and George Fickhardt at the pro shop.

Frisco Giants Travel After Gala Home Start

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants hit the road today after cutting a wide swath, both on the field and at the box office, in their initial stand in new home territory.

On the field, the Giants were 15-9 in the National League won-lost column, just a game behind first place Milwaukee.

At the box office, the attendance count for the first 20 home dates total 304,257, an average of 15,213. The Polo Grounds total for the same period last year: 182,283.

To Sell or Not To Sell!
Now is the time to decide.
There is still time to get a fair price for your home. How long this market will last, I can't say. It is the "law of supply and demand" that sets the prices. PLUS man's financial ability.
In Real Estate it is "turn overs" not "hold overs" that makes for profit.
Hatfield can still sell your property at a good market price.
Hatfield will not agree to get you a GLORIOUS PRICE for your property, but he will assure you MARKET VALUE in a reasonable time.

To Sell or Not To Sell!

Now is the time to decide.

There is still time to get a fair price for your home. How long this market will last, I can't say. It is the "law of supply and demand" that sets the prices... PLUS man's financial ability.

In Real Estate it is "turn overs" not "hold overs" that makes for profit.

Hatfield can still sell your property at a good market price.

Hatfield will not agree to get you a GLORIOUS PRICE for your property... but he will assure you MARKET VALUE in a reasonable time.

Braves Show Their Prowess Over Redlegs

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Against the world champion Milwaukee Braves it looks like Cincinnati's Redlegs will have to be happy with the small pleasures.

The Braves are reaping the big pleasures—like winning the game. The Reds gave Milwaukee some trouble Sunday, but the Braves still came out on top, 7-6.

It was the fourth straight Brave victory over Cincinnati.

Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbets had a few bright spots:

His sluggers got together and drove an old enemy—pitcher Lew Burdette—to the showers with a barrage of five hits and four runs in the fifth inning.

Shortstop Roy McMillan came out of a long hitting slump to belt two singles—one of them to keep the fifth inning rally going.

The pinch-hitters accounted for four of Cincinnati's six runs, illustrating one of Tebbets' fondest assertions—that he has one of the strongest benches in the league.

But there was plenty for Tebbets to be unhappy about. His Redlegs pulled into a one-run lead in the eighth inning, but the advantage didn't last out the inning.

Turk Lown, a new Cincinnati pitcher, started off the bottom of the eighth by loading the bases with Braves on two passes and a single. Del Crandall doubled in three runs and Bill Wight took over on the mound. Wight shut down the rally without further harm, but Milwaukee already had what proved its winning marker.

Tribe Emerges From Slump, Then Tumbles

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians ended a four-game losing streak by beating the Chicago White Sox 4-2 in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday, but fell back into the rut by losing the nightcap 5-2.

A two-run single by rookie Carroll Hardy in the opener featured a three-run seventh-inning rally that gave Ray Narleski his fourth victory in six decisions. Narleski, however, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Cal McLish finished for the Tribe.

Right-hander Bob Kelly was the loser in the second game. He was the victim of a weird assortment of bloop hits in the fourth inning, when the White Sox scored twice and assumed a 3-0 lead. Left-hander Dick Tomanek, who finally stopped the rally, also permitted two runs in the fifth, but then blanked the Sox in the last three innings.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, a 20-game winner last year, was the loser in the opener, giving him an 0-3 record. Jim Wilson, a 36-year-old right-hander, was the Chicago winner (his third triumph in four decisions) but had to be rescued by reliever Gerry Staley.

The Sox scored their runs in the first game on homers by Sherm Lollar and Ron Jackson. Jim Rivera homered for Chicago in the nightcap.

Pierce had a 2-1 lead going into the seventh inning, when he ran into trouble. The Indians tied the score on two walks and two singles and then Hardy hit his game-winning single with the bases full.

Preakness Field Under Close Study

BALTIMORE (AP) — Weeding out the potential field for Saturday's Preakness begins in earnest today. When it settles down, a couple of horses facing strong recent tradition, Tim Tam and Lincoln Road, undoubtedly will stand atop the list.

Tim Tam is bucking the history of the 81 past Preakness Stakes while the records are encouraging for Lincoln Road.

Only 11 3-year-olds since 1875 have won both the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, the last being Citation in 1948. Eight went on to take the Belmont and the triple crown, Citation also being the latest.

Porterfield Shines As Buc Pitcher

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates is smiling a bit more broadly today, credit veteran pitcher Bob Porterfield.

The American League castoff looked like the answer to a manager's dreams Sunday as he pitched a 1-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Phillies in 11 innings in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

Murtaugh wouldn't definitely commit himself whether Porterfield was "in" as the Pirates' fourth starting pitcher. But it was evident Murtaugh won't need more convincing to slot the Princeton, W. Va., resident in starting rotation with Bob Friend, Ron Kline and Vernon Law.

Yanks Senators Lose Star Players

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees will be without the services of Bill Skowron for at least two weeks, and the Washington Senators will be minus their slugging outfielder, Roy Sievers, for about a week as a result of injuries Sunday.

The Yanks won the opener 4-3; the Nats took the nightcap 4-0.

Skowron, the Yankees' hard-luck guy, tore a back muscle while fielding a grounder in the second game.

Sievers suffered his injury only minutes after Skowron was hurt. He pulled a muscle in the calf of his left leg.

Mathias Expects Red Olympic Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Mathias, the two-time Olympic decathlon champion and currently a novice movie star under John Wayne's tutelage, said today the United States is bound to lose the 1960 Olympics to the Russians.

"I know we lost in the point score in 1956," said Mathias, who was at Melbourne as President Eisenhower's personal emissary. "But we won most of the track events and we told ourselves that's what counts."

"Well, this time we're not even going to win the track events. We're good, but we've been standing still. The Russians have been concentrating on the events we've always dominated."

Boros Is Winner At Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The 36-hole grind was hard on 38-year-old Julius Boros, but the links workman from Mid Pines, N. C., saved a little bit for when he needed it and won the $20,000 Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Boros took his first tournament victory since he won the world championship at Tam O'Shanter in 1955 by ramming down birdie putts of 15 and 10 feet on Nos. 17 and 18 to stage off a fast finish by Cary Middlecoff.

The closing birdies gave Boros a one-under par round of 71 and a 72-hole total of 273.

U.S., Russian Lifters Ready for Competition

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States and the Russian weightlifting teams get down to work tonight at the International Amphitheater in the first of three meets in this country.

The two teams, feted by various organizations over the weekend during which they saw the double-header baseball game between Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox, will meet in Detroit Thursday and New York City Friday.

First Metal Poured For Taft Carillon

ANNECY, France (AP) — A six-ton bell, one of 27 in a carillon to be installed in the Sen. Robert A. Taft Memorial Tower in Washington, D. C., has been poured here.

U. S. and French officials watched the pouring Saturday. The carillon, which will play American and French folk melodies from transcribed tape, will be installed in the memorial to the late Ohio Republican senator in August.

Americans Not Popular In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — If you are an American in Algeria these days, don't talk like one.

"Don't let them hear your American accent," a Frenchman friend advises. "Too many people down here hate Americans."

It doesn't show much on the surface. French Algerian teen-agers in U.S.-style blue jeans hang around U.S.-style snack bars and play the latest American hits on American-built juke boxes.

The teen-agers flocked to the theater to cheer "The Platters," an American singing group. But that same week an American had an American newspaper snatched from his hand by teen-agers.

"It's very indiscreet to carry an American newspaper in public," a French friend told the American.

Many Algerian bars have little stands holding French and allied flags. You don't see the U. S. flag in some of these.

Why all the anti-Americanism? You get a lot of answers, some contradictory or confusing.

Some say the United States isn't giving military aid to help France put down the 3-year-old Algerian rebellion. But they also say the United States is interfering in Algeria and the rebellion is strictly a French affair.

Others say the United States is trying to steal the oil resources of the Sahara. But they also say the United States isn't giving France enough help to extract the Sahara's oil.

Whatever the reason, keep your American accent to yourself in Algeria. Too many people down here hate Americans.

Unknown Soldiers of World War II Being Selected for Tombs of Honor

EPINAL, France (AP) — A moist general solemnly marched past 13 flag-draped caskets today and chose one symbolizing American servicemen who died unidentified in Europe and North Africa in World War II.

The casket was borne away to a rendezvous at sea to join a similarly selected American who died in the Pacific. One of these nameless men will be the Unknown Soldier of World War II. The other will be buried at sea off Norfolk, Va.

Gen. Edward O'Neill of St. Albans, Vt., a scholarly graying man with battle decorations for three assault landings, stood with head bowed for a full minute before choosing one of the 13. Then he marched forward, and placed a red and white wreath on the casket fifth from the left.

An honor guard of living comrades saluted as a bugler sounded "Taps," and a second bugler far away sounded the sad, nostalgic echo.

As the two unidentified bodies lie side by side aboard the missile cruiser Canberra on May 26, Navy Hospital Corpsman First Class William R. Charette of Ludington, Mich., will choose one to be the Unknown Soldier of World War II. The other will receive a simple burial at sea.

The body of a third serviceman, the Unknown Soldier of the Korean War, will be placed aboard a destroyer along with the World War II choice. They will go on to Arlington National Cemetery for burial next to the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

The ceremony at the U.S. Cemetery here will be matched by two others at the Military Cemetery in Honolulu. M.Sgt. Ned Lyle of Erwin, Tenn., who won the Distinguished Service Cross in Korea, will select the body of the Unknown Soldier of the Korean War on May 15. The next day Air Force Col. Glenn T. Eagleston of Alhambra, Calif., will pick the serviceman to represent the Pacific war dead.

A gray mist hung over the cemetery here where 5,000 American dead are buried in the Vosges Mountains overlooking the winding Moselle River.

About 500 people, many of them

Frenchmen wearing wartime ribbons in their lapels, stood silent as the flag-draped casket was borne away. A bird sang in the surrounding woods, a baby cried, and the sound of a jet plane could be heard far overhead.

Three military chaplains, a Jew, a Roman Catholic and a Protestant—asked God's grace for the unidentified soldier.

The 13 soldiers in their last silent formation here were drawn from all the American cemeteries in Europe and Africa. They symbolized the nation's dead from World War II, but more specifically the 7,500 whose bodies cannot be identified and another 75,000 still listed simply as missing.

The ceremony took place on a hillside where 5,000 Americans are buried. It was originally a temporary cemetery for those men killed during the Vosges Mountains in 1944. France now has granted it to the United States. Its simple white marble memorial, before which the ceremony took place, bears the inscription, "This is Their Memorial — the Whole Earth is Their Sepulcher."

Trouble Seen Existing in U.S. Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A nation is no stronger than its homes and there is something wrong with the American home, Billy Graham told a Mothers Day audience of 16,300 at the Cow Palace Sunday.

The evangelist noted there is one divorce for every 3 1/2 marriages in the nation and one for every two in San Francisco.

"It shows there is more unhappiness here than in any other city in the world," Graham declared as he opened the third week of his San Francisco crusade.

"The Bible teaches that marriage is a miracle," he said. "It is a serious, lifelong step and in God's sight is a sacred vow."

Graham told wives to subordinate themselves to their husbands. "The wives are the keepers of the home, not the women's club. Greet your husband at the door with a kiss. He may faint the first time. It doesn't cost much to be attractive."

"The wife has the hardest job," he went on. "I had to take care of my five children one day while my wife went shopping. I'd rather plow new ground all day than go through that again."

Graham saw 575 persons make "decisions for Christ" at the end of his sermon, bringing the total to 8,180 for the crusade. Attendance now totals 229,800.
